COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The Board of Assessors established a tax rate of $42 per thousand at their regular meeting Monday evening. This is less than was anticipated as a result of increased valuation.

Work is nearly completed on the Smith Bridge in West Bethel. Considerable work has been done, not only to the bridge but also to the approaches. The abutments were strengthened by the use of 24 yards of cement and 500 to 600 yards of gravel is being hauled to bring the road up to grade with the bridge.

The town raised $5,000 in 1968 to do the work and we should be able to stay within the appropriation. There are some bills outstanding at this time, also some finishing work to be done.

Next Wednesday, Aug. 6, the Town Office will be closed all day in order that Mrs. Young and I may attend a school in Augusta. Instruction will be given on how the new law demanding all towns end their fiscal year June 30 will effect us.

Mr. Vaughan will assume his new position the early part of September.

BETHEL'S 1969 TAX RATE TO BE $42.00 PER THOUSAND — VALUATION UP $403,055

It was announced this week that Bethel's 1969 tax rate has been set at $42 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is a $5 increase over the 1968 rate and is $2 less than was predicted as a result of appropriations at the 1969 annual meeting, plus the SAD 44 assessment and County tax.

Property valuation in Bethel this year totals $3,011,075, an increase of $403,050 over the 1968 valuation of $2,608,020.

New buildings, improvements and alterations to existing structures, as well as errors in valuation that came to light in the process of applying a 5% increase to land values in the town, contributed to the increase in total valuation.

Will the person who has these articles please return them to the church or if their whereabouts are known contact Mrs. Richard Carter or any resident of Middle Intervale.

LEAVE ADDED SUBSIDY IN SCHOOL ACCOUNTS IS DECISION OF POORLY ATTENDED SESSION

A comparative handful of School Administrative District 44 voters meeting at Telstar Regional High School Tuesday evening, July 29, decided to place the additional school operating subsidy of $12,197 in the school accounts to reduce the district's appropriation for 1970.

A motion to distribute the funds proportionately to the district towns of Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry and Woodstock failed of passage.

Wilbur Myers of Bethel served as moderator of the meeting that attracted only approximately 30 voters of the five towns.

MAINE STATE TELEPHONE CO. FINISHES ENGINEERING WORK FOR REBUILDING PROGRAM

The completion of engineering work for the Maine State Telephone Company's plant rebuilding program in the Bethel area has been announced by Joseph D. Gardner, company president. Materials are now in the process of being ordered and construction is planned to begin in the West Bethel area in September, he said.

Mr. Gardner also announced the purchase of land in West Bethel on which the new central office will be located. Plans for this building are now being discussed with the contractor, and the company hopes to start construction in the near future, said Mr. Gardner. He added that installation of the equipment for this office will commence as soon as the building is completed.

Plans now call for new cable to be installed to the Sunday River area prior to the 1969 skiing season; and for the placing of new toll and EAS cable between Bethel and Locke Mills by early in 1970, he said.

While nothing can yet be materialized by the company's customers, Gardner said, completion of engineering and material requisitioning actually represents 35% completion of the entire project.

CUNNINGHAM TO ASSUME POST AS PRINCIPAL OF TELSTAR ON AUGUST 1

It has been learned that Keith Cunningham will assume duties as principal of Telstar Regional High School on Friday, Aug. 1. Earlier this year Mr. Cunningham was named assistant principal of Telstar for 1969-70. The resignation of C. Richard Vaughan last week created the opening in the principal's position.

Mr. Cunningham is a former principal of Oxford Hills High School, and for the past two years has been president of Bliss College in Lewiston.

In other news of the Telstar staff it was revealed that William Koen, art instructor, has submitted his resignation. Mr. Koen intends to start working toward his Ph.D. at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, according to Ralph K. Ryder, SAD 44 superintendent.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. — On days which seem made for enjoying the forest and out of doors in general why should I stay inside? In the bright green world of summer I might better be out looking for new things and maybe capture them with my camera. It's fun to give yourself a motive ever if you have hiked over these same trails before. Therefore I think I will see some animal and steel close enough to photograph it or to just sit and watch? Of course I seldom do but it makes the exertion of crawling under or over deadfalls appear worthwhile.

This week I hiked to the ledges then followed old trails to the hills. I have seen them through veils of falling rain, in the glare of the sun or in the quiet of a moonlight night when water lapped on the shore. Today the sun threw the shadows of the mountains on the ridges across the valley refreshing and whole some. I sat on the ledges alone high above the water which reflected the trees standing toe to toe. I watched swallows dip and dive and noted the silence and peace of the valley looking far off into the distant spots.

Beyond the cliff a trail led up and beneath the whispering pines I silently made my way turning to look over the spires below. It was lovely and cool with the scent of the pine and spruce filling the air. Pale flowers carpeted the forest floor; Indian-pines, hunch berries and wood sorrel.

The sky so high and brilliant above the tree tops stretched wide and blue.

Here the forest was deep with beech and oak among the evergreens. Ferns and moss at times formed a cushiony duff at every step.

In a small opening the sun beat down with an inviting warmth and the wisp of a breeze drifted down the forest path while an ancient, ancient maple with a knot in its heart stood guard near the boulder where I rested for a time.

Then I made my way down the wooded path ways through warming sunshine and cooling shade absorbed by new pictures and by thoughts fast succeeding each other—home. Here Boat waited for a delicious meandering sail, nowhere in particular but into the luminous water up pond we went for an hour of fishing.

"Rest is not idleness and to lie sometimes on the grass under the trees on a summer's day listening to the murmur of water or watching the clouds float across the sky is by no means a waste of time." John Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hayes and family, New York, are here on vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hayes.

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be heard this Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

Included in the sermon is the statement: "And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing." (I Corinthians 13:3).

A correlative passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, comments: "To Love one's neighbor as one's self, is a divine idea; but this idea can never be seen, felt, nor understood through the physical senses."

MAINE FORESTRY FIELD DAY PLANS ANNOUNCED

The annual Maine Forestry Field Day will be held August 23 in the Carrabassett Valley area of Franklin County, according to Earle D. Bessey, Waterville, council president.

The field day will include a tour of Dead River Company's Redington North, a complex of recreational homes, the Sugarloaf and Saddleback Ski areas and the Cathedral Pines of Eustis. The latter includes a campground area owned by the town.

According to Bessey, special emphasis is being placed on timberland management in recreational areas.

"Too frequently the recreational use of the forest and the harvesting of timber are not regarded as being compatible," Bessey said. "These projects in the Carrabassett area point out that forest management must play an important part in recreational planning and that a healthy forest is maintained only with appropriate harvesting."

Bessey said picnic facilities will be available at the Valley Crossing in Carrabassett Village, headquarters for the Field Day.

The field day is open to the public and limited luncheon facilities will be available for those who wish to purchase light lunches.

The Maine Forest Products Council serves the forest and wood products industries of Maine. This will be the 11th annual field day. In the past, the field days have included the dedication of the Forest Resources Building at the University of Maine, tours of wood using industries such as sawmills and dowel plants and visits to logging operations.

Other sponsors of the Field Day are the Maine Forestry Department, Augusta, and the School of Forest Resources, University of Maine, Orono.

A late-model four-door sedan owned by Norris Brown of Bethel was reported stolen late Thursday afternoon, while the vehicle was parked on Route 26 at Bryant Pond.

Mr. Hildon sustained a possible skull fracture, a broken knee, and lacerations in the early evening crash and was admitted to Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

John C. Cole of Dover, N. H., said to be the driver of the stolen car, was being held at the Oxford County Jail awaiting arraignment Friday morning in 11th District Court on two charges. GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

The second installment of the Guidance article on "The Relationship of Guidance to the Community in SAD 44", is presented this week.

The motivations and methods used by counselors have much to do with how well parents respond to the services available to them. Good public relations make parents aware of guidance services. Making use of these services is of value to parents who are helping guide young people to reach maturity according to their capabilities and needs. A public relations program that informs parents of the wide variety of courses found in the curriculum is of value to both the counselor and student when obtaining consent for courses in scheduling. With a knowledge of courses available the parents can better help in educational planning and placement in the high school program, and thus the students will benefit in having their needs and interests satisfied. Parents should be made aware that counselors are working for the welfare of the child constantly.

Many of the services of the guidance department help promote good mental health. Educational and vocational counseling aid the pupil in mental and emotional development. A public relations program that explains the relationship between guidance services is of great value to the students in maintaining good mental health not only while in school but future years. This in turn results in administration changes that are very satisfactory to all concerned. The values that result from smoother harmony are reflected in the student attitude toward the necessary policies of the school administration and the guidance department.

Good public relations helps parents understand that teachers and counselors will pay attention to constructive suggestions and criticism. Counselors need to learn from parents the hopes, fears, desires, and goals of the children. Past events which parents can tell about may reveal reasons for situations and problems that the counselor is now facing.

One of the values of satisfactory public relations can be found in the establishment of a partnership concept which unites the parents and counselors in their efforts to meet the educational needs of the children. Parent groups that are kept informed by a good public relations program from the guidance department will be of value in keeping the general public informed with regard to school policy or changes. By exchanging information counselors gain an understanding of the goals parents have for their children, and parents learn of the aims of the counselors. This can result in a more adequate educational program.

Skillful group discussion is of great value in public relations. Parent groups that proceed with slowness and caution can contribute constructive reasoning and critical analysis which aids in solving problems and conflicts. When the contributions of such parent groups are accepted and encouraged by the school, a chain reaction in good human relations results. These parents encourage others in the community to accept and understand the school. The values gained are improved relations and less conflict between school and parents.

A two-way exchange of information is essential to good public relations. Through conversations with counselors, parents learn about the guidance department and are better able to understand what the counselors are trying to do. The process also is valuable in reverse because the counselors learn the needs, interests and attitudes of the parents in the community. This is valuable in adjusting the school program to local conditions. In turn, this is valuable to the pupils because it helps the school prepare them for their roles as adults in the community.

(to be continued August 7)

Parents moving into SAD 44 this summer with children in grades 7-12 should call the Guidance Office at Telstar 824-2027 for an appointment if their children are to attend Telstar Regional.

the one about The

CMP people are not only CMP people

They're involved! Take a look. You'll find CMP men and women active in just about every community activity and organization around you.

CMP people belong to civic organizations — Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Jaycee and other clubs. They work on United Fund and hospital drives, take part in industrial development, and are called upon to hold leadership roles in community government.

And when it comes to young people — whether through Scout programs, school activities, or other projects — CMP people are right in there bridging the generation gap.

CMP people are dedicated to public service — both on the job and off. And even in the face of greatly increasing business costs (new taxes, higher interest rates and other inflationary pressures) on the job they're making an extra effort to continue providing you with the best electric service at the lowest possible cost.

It takes a real personal concern to make this state a better place in which to live. CMP people are both concerned and involved!
